A SPANISH ANECDOTE.

"It was a holy usage to record
Upon each refectory's ace or end
The ast mysterious Supper of our Lord.
That meanest appetites might upward tend. Within the convent Palace of old Spain,
Rich with the gifts and monuments of Kings,
Hung such a picture, said by some to reign
The sovereign glory of those wondrous things.

A Painter of ar fame, lin deep delight,
Dwelt on each beauty he so well discerned,
While, in low tones, a gray Geronomite
This anwer to his ecstasy returned, Stranger I have received my daily meal

In this cone company, now three score-years, And Thou, whoe'er Thou art, canst harely feel How Time these lifeless images endears. Lifeless,—ah! no: both Faith and Art have given That passing hour a ife of endless-rest, And every soul who loves the food of Heaven May to hat table come a welcome guest: (Lifeless,-ah! no: while in mine heart are stored

Sail meriories of my brethren dead and gone, Familiar places vacant round our boarc,
And still treat silent Supper lasting on: "While I review my youth—what I was then,—
What I am now, and ye, beloved ones all!
It seems as if these were the living men,
And we the colored shallows on the wall.'"
—Richard Moncton Milnes.

THE FIRST PRESIDENT. The opinion that Washington was our first President is a very prevalent one, and yet it is by no means the itera truth. Uncentably he was the first President under our present constitution, but he had 14 preceeessors under the revolutionary zovernment and confereration. he irst of these was feyton Rancolon, of Virginia, whereas chosen September 5, 1774, and died in the office short y afterware -()ctober 22, 1774. He wassucceeded by Itenry Nicc eton. of South Carolina, who remained in office unti Nay 24, 1775, at which time on ancock of Massac usetts, was e ected. The atter served until November, 1777, when lenry Laurens, o South Caro ina, succeeded nim. Next came onn Gay, o New York, who was abbointed December 10, 1778. In 1779, September 28; Samue Funi ngton, of Connecticut, entered upon the ciscrarge of the cuties of the office. is term continued unt _u y 10, 1781, when nomas Kein, o De aware, was appointed. His successor was John Lanson, of Marylanc, who was chosen November 5, 1781. Next in order is Z has Bouchool, of New lersey, who was elected November 4, 1782. Thomas Vife fin, o' Penns' vania, was appointed November 3, 1753. Next came Richard Flenry Lee, o' Virginia, November 30, 1784; Nathaniel Gorman, of Massic susetts, line 6, 1786; Art sur St. Cair, o' Jennsy vania, February 2, 1787, anc Cyrus Grein, o Virginia, anuary 22, 1788, wao was succeeded by George Was lington, irst Presiden under the Bederal Constitution, Apri 30, 1789.

POETIC IMAGERY IN PROVERBS. Proveres being, as we have seen, the sayings that have found avor with the people, their peculiar in heritarice, we may confidently antici-Date that there will be poetry, imagination, passion, in them. A coser examination wi not out this our confidence to shame. As a proof. et serve our own: "Gray nairs are ceat i's plossoms;" or ne ta ian: "Time is an inauc ible, ste;" or the Greec: "Y in a pubbe;" which eremy ay or has expanded into such g oridus poetry in the opening of the " To y Dying;" or that Turcish: "Death is a place came which aree's at every man's gate;" totake ub, that is, the pure en o'a conn there; or this Arabic one, on the never satisfied eye of the eye o man," or another rom the same cuarter, worthy of Vecca's propert himse, and o the earnestness with which he realized Gehenna, whatever else he may have come short in: " here are no ans in he ;" or this other, a so from the East: "Forc a sarts of thy mant e extencec, when heaven is raining zo. c.; improve, that is ito the uttermost the mappier crises of thy spiritua lie; or this Indian, to the effect that good should be returned or evi : "The sancal tree per umes the ax thatte sit;" or this one, current in the Miccie Azes: "Whose: i e gatens, sis words taunder;" or once more, this Chinese. Who would ever have thought it? A great discovery has been made. The little estive grass rooper can be utilized and his services rencere: of the greatest benefit to man. One of the ittle ellows was caught by a couple of gent emen near Fi more, and a itt e paper tab et taken from his neck, where it had been careful y attached with a thread, and on the tablet was written, "Custer City, August 10." The insect was captured near i more, on the 2414 of August, by John Wines and J. T. Munger! Custer City is distant nearly five hundred miles from fillmore, and Mr. G. Dopper made ekce ent time, considering the temptations to tarry on the eich corn fields on the way. The truth of this is strong y-vouched for by the gent emer who captured it and by Mr. C. We's, who brought the list e fe low into the Herald heads curries for an interview. This opens up ar entirely new era for the grasshopper, and it would not be strange if, with a little practice and training, he could be made to surpass the carrier bigeon or the fast mill train for the trans nission of messages. - Omaha Herald.

CERISTINE NILSSON'S VOW.

Yme. Christine Ni sson recent y gave five thousand to lars towards founding a hospital in Paris, specia y intended for the cure of diseases of the taroat. This munificence on the part of the great singer is said to be the result of a vow she make when only about seven years of age. Ler parents were very poor people, and we are told she had often to shiver under the cold bast of wintry Sweden. When she was about seven years of age she was attacked with croup, and had to be conveyed to a small nospita at Christina. Such attention was paic to her that she was able to escape the danger which at one time threatened her. On her re covery she made a vow that if she ever became rich she would consecrate part of her fortune toward founding a hospital for diseases of the throat, and she has notly kept her promise. She has also given one thousand pounds sterling to a Lordon hospital for simi ar objects.

THE PEASANTRY OF MONTENE-GRO.

The Montenegrin mountaineer and warrior is a man six feet in height, with grave, thoughtful face, singularly contrasting with his cuick, nervous gait. e has high cheek bones, ice an expensive piece of work of this description in American neign; his eye is black and piere the world, ing; and his shoulders have a slight stoop, produced by constantly bending forward as he ascends difficult heights. He is perhaps the most agile human being on European soil; there is no haunt of the chamois which he cannot folow; and even the goats sometimes hesitate to go after their shepher is when there is a cangerous path to be crossed. The Montenegrin women are often the objects of pity to travelers, out they caim no sympathy and acknow edge no pares is. Their cesting is to work and to the cars for transportation. suffer. They are not even welcomed into the wor d, and the birth of a daugates is regarded as a calamity. The girl grows up neglected and often cursed. She carries fagots of wood on he near that she may earn a few coins to buy arms for her brother. She vas no you 1, and is old at twenty-five. She is married young, anc hears children while enduring labor in the fields, which would be too hard even for strong men. The woman urges the warrior to the fight, oacs his guns, and dresses his wounds. She is seldom beautifu of feature, and the poarse work waich she performs soon ruins her form. TWEED'S WANDERINGS.

Tweed's arrest in Spain now brings to light a material portion of his wancerings. He escaped from the custody of his keepers last December. There was a current leftef that he would make his way to Cuba or to some Souta American State. It now turns ou, that he was in Lavana, and went thence to Salitiago de Cuthat the United States authorities were on his and after a voyage of forty-one days arrived at ceived by the Spanish commandan ane ludger n prison. The departure of Tweed on the instructions to be forwarded to Minister Cushing, and the Spanish government was expressed itse f wi ling, in the absence of any extracition treaty, to ce iver the lugitive to the United States authorities. Its arrest and detention at Vigo were in fulfillment of that agreement, and it is ikely'that William M. Tweed will shortly be anded in New York.

GEN. GRANT'S SITENT HABIT.

It is a singular evidence of he judicious spirit of Gen. Grant that he, who is in reality a : f uent and even gossippy talker, should, after so many years of public life, retain the reputation of being an uncommon y taciturn man. The fact is that he speaks freely only to a few persons whom he chooses as the recibients of his confidency, and that, moreover, he speaks only on those natters which he selects. The White couse cou. I of many curious and auguaole attempt o "pump" the President, all of them failures. "I approached my subject very. carefully," said a politician in Washington last Winter, relating one of these failures." "The President was remarkably full of talk; I never saw him from, and I kept him going until at ast thought my time had come, and asked my question A. at once his mouth closec, and do what I would I never got another word out o him." That is the story of many at-The foregoing temots-to ' make him tale." calls to mind an incident illustrative of the peculiarly unemotiona. nabits of Gen. Grant, told by Dr. Snodgrass, who accompanied the cai y paper, when he visited the o' regions of der to inspect one of those stirring phenomena a "fowing we l," which was sending up an immense volume of oi. anc. foam every minute. The committee of reception and the newspaper men alike were chattering excitedly as they took their peep at the woncers, whereas Gen. SEPTEMBER 23, 1876. Official Paper of El Pass County.

WE regre once more to fee obliged to trop the Republican ticket from the head of our colums to make room for pressing matter of loca or general interest. We see ess regret as the people are so well advised of the candillates and appear to be so entrusiastic in their support.

WE regret that we are unable for want of time and space to give an extended account of the grand Republican rally at City Lal ast evening-we venture to say the most spirited and enthusiastic oublic meeting ever assembled in Colorado Springs. The hall was crowded to overflowing, all seats occupied and many standing, the stage or platform mostly filled by ladies. The Glee Class was in excellent tune and spirit, and led by the immitable Billy Macomber, gave with great pathes and effect some of the best campaign songs. The meeting was presided over by W. W. Perkins, esq., of Fountain.

Hon. . . B. Belford, Republican nominee for Congress, and Gen. R. A. Cameron, of Greeley, made ab e and e oquent speeches, reviewing with great force the issues of the canvass, effectually vincicating the Republican policy, and exhibiting in glowing colors the superior excellence of the Republican cancidates. If the meeting and the enthusiasm manifested may be taken as any indication of the spirit that now animates the public mind throughout the State, there can be no doubt of the complete triumph of the Republican cause at the solls.

It is not a p easant thing to make an issue in a Presidential canvass upon the want of hones ty and respectability in oither candidate, and as a genera rule we deprecate personal attacks upon men brought forward for public favor and distinction. It is to be supposed that parties in selecting cancidates will propose those against whom no gross charge can be properly made or sustained. But the Democratic party opener the ball by wholesale denunciations of curruption against the Republican party, going before the country whila the arrogant cry of reform, as if a the ionesty, character and decency were in the Democratic ford, and Nr. "Teen himself rescences to be low role of a cemagogue in repeating in his public addresses the silly accusation. This stupidity and hypocrisy naturally provoked a more care ul scrutiny of his persona character and history, and it turns out that he is really a great ruscal. It has long been known that he was a sharp, selfish, unscrupuous awyer, who had rapidly acquired great wealth by questionable methods, particularly in manipulating struggling, and embartused rail way corporations; having obtained reputation for skill and success in reorganizing and oush ing forware such enterprises in a manner genthe new ones, always looking out for the main York Times, responsible and respectable as it is, except upon reliable assurance of its truth, PHEDEN AS TRESTED

To the Editor of the New York Times connection with the St. Louis, Alton and Terre Haute Rai'road is too mild. I have been for and know all about it.

Subsequently they disaspeared from the assets of this company and no new credits were found of their sale. This led to years of inquiry and search, which resulted in tracing them. into the hands of Tilden & Co. This search officers, controlling the books.

The stock and bondaoleers employed Mr. Whitney (attorney) to assist them. After years of careful inquiry, which developed additional rascality in the construction of the Belville branch of this ame road, by which the company was defrauded of nearly or quite as much more, Mr. Whitney made his report, and a committee was appointed to bring crimina or civil suits, or both. At this juncture Mr. Tilden came from Albany and held a conference with Wayor Wickham, by which Mr. Whitney was appointed Corporation Counsel, since which he did not deem it advisable to prosecute suit against his new patron. All these proceedings were instituted and discoveries made long before Tilden was thought of as a candidate for any political orice, rence were not partisan. S. New York, Saturday, August 12, 1876.

There is much evidence before the country utterly destructive of his claim to being a manof integrity. If after a that is known he may ne regarded as a credible witness, we have its own sworn testimony that he perjured himself in the matter of his income returns to the officers of the Internal Revenue Department of the government for 1862, his return of income for that year uncer oath having been $7,118, when according to his oath in the case of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company he received that year in one transaction for professional service twenty thousand collars, and in well authenticated itemized reports and year $108,000, and after making al cecuctions he could properly claim, he should have paid 5 cespise the traitor. great as to leave no grount for the charitable at mission that a regular life-long Democrat belie' that it may have been an error, but the conviction is forced upon the mind that the case made against Mr. Ti cen is one of celiberate, wilful frauc, aggravated by perjury.

This is a painful exhibition in regard to s man out forward by a powerful party as a cancicate for nigh office, and that, too, under the faming banner of reform. We co not snow now much voters with be influenced by these exposures. Charges of corruption against men come so common, and most'y, as we be ieve, tonal relations and cealings are as satisfactory and that of Wace impon in support of Sithe state ofper. ; But we cannot re- Cen and mencreces.

THE Fourth Annua Rair of the Colorado Industrial Association will be lated at Denver, opening on the 26th and closing, on the 30th, It is intended and expected that the collection and display of the products of the industry, skill, and handicraft of the people of the new State will surpass any former exhibition, and be very creditable in every respect. We'trust that a proper public interest will be manifested, such as will encourage home industry, and reward skill and merit.

Tr is gratifying to observe that the pub ic exigencies and dangers are calling to the front the pest ta ent and the best men in the land, to fill the offices of responsibility and trust.
